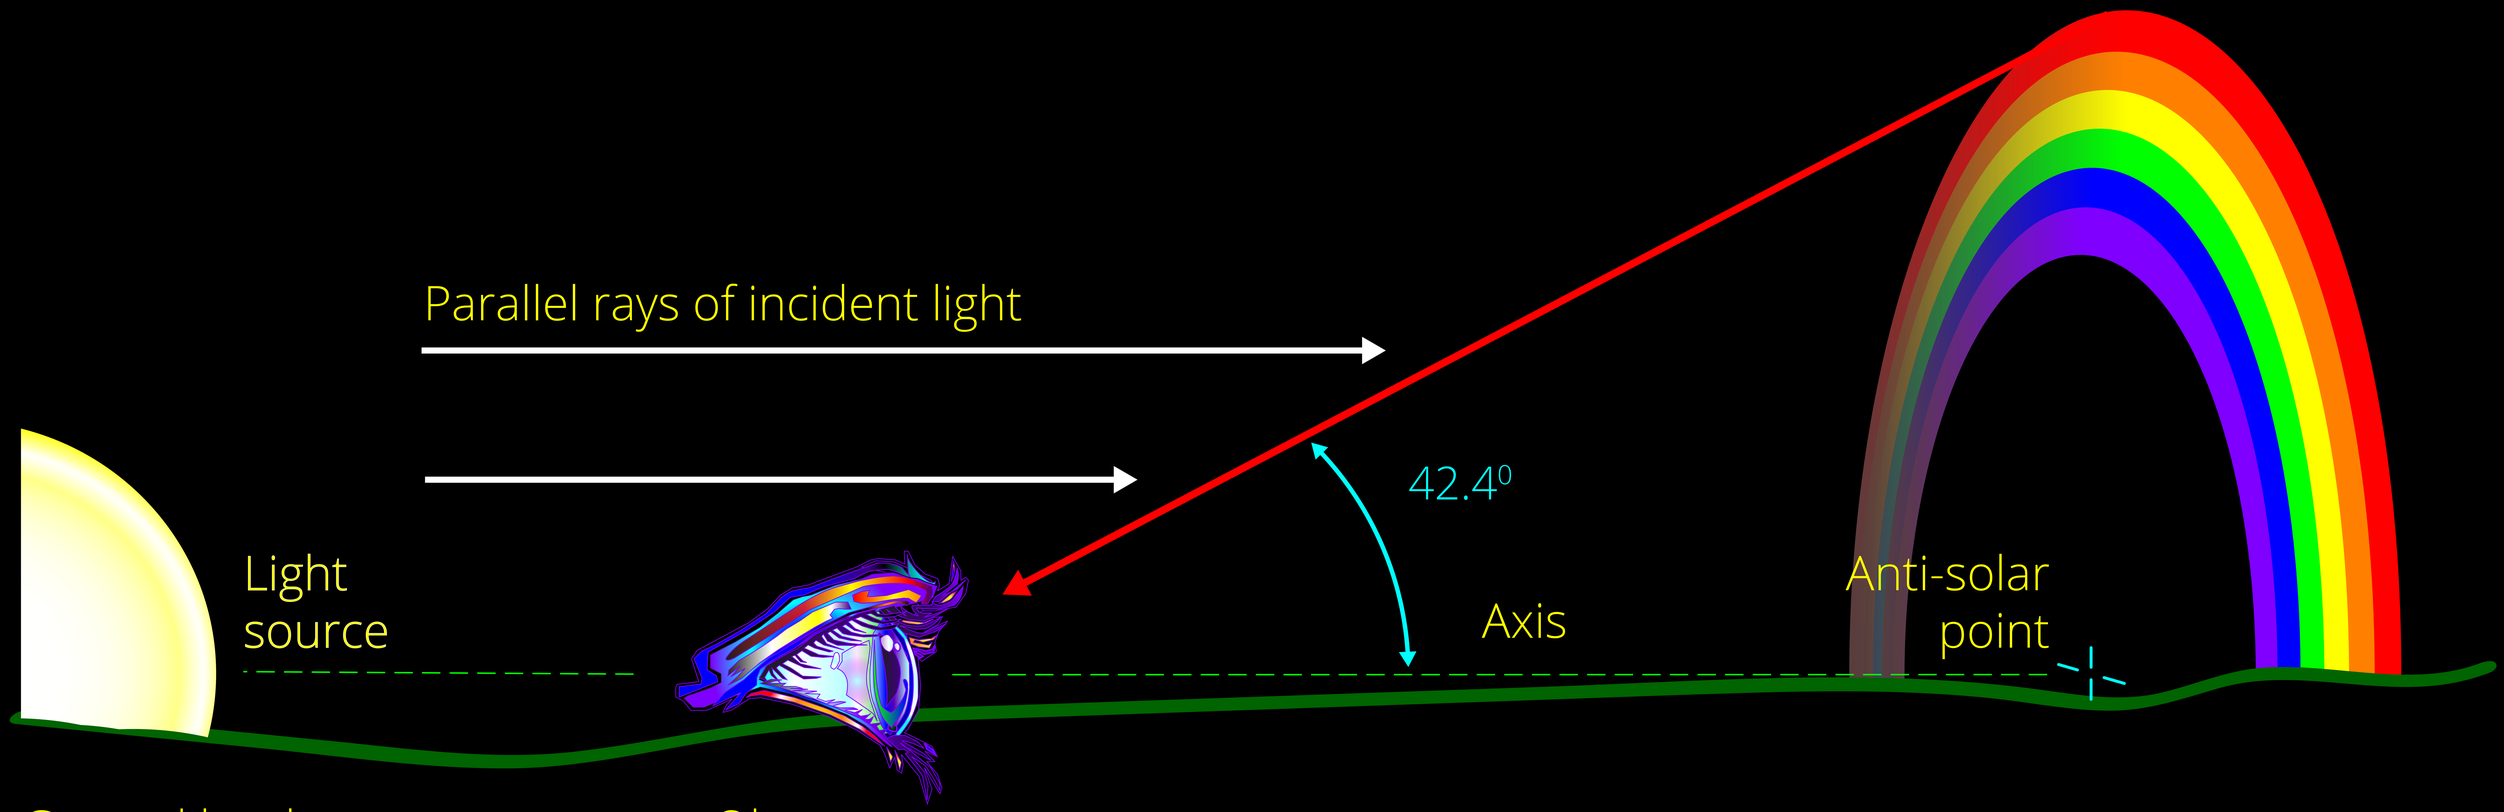
SUN, OBSERVER & RAINBOW SHARE AXIS



The axis of a rainbow is an imaginary line that passes through the light source, the observer's line of sight and the anti-solar point. The anti-solar point is at the centre of a rainbow.