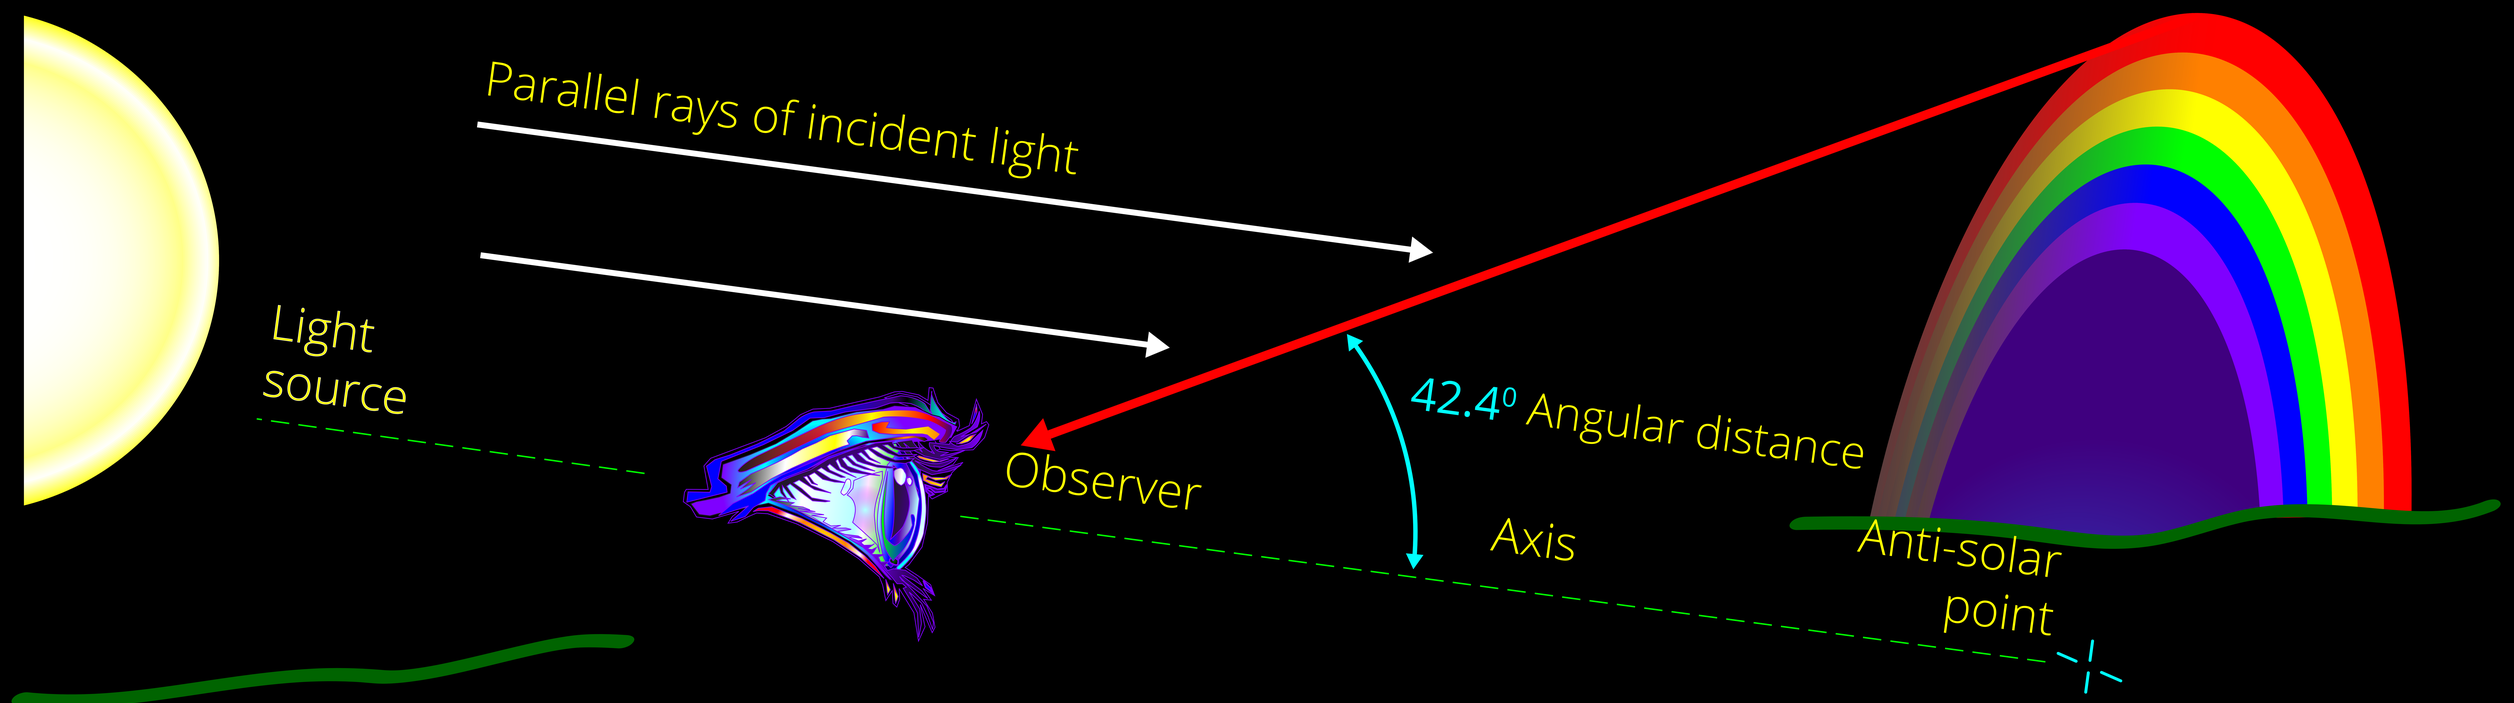
HIGHER THE SUN, LOWER THE RAINBOW



At midday rainbows appear at their lowest in the sky. If the Sun is too high no rainbow is visible.
The light source, observer and rainbow are always on the same axis.